Murray College High FHA Holds Meeting Of Executive Council

Plans and activities were discussed and made for the coming year.

Newspaper Revenue Tops All Media

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newspaper advertising revenues posted the highest gain of any advertising media in the first half of this year, Printers' Ink magazine said Thursday.

It said newspaper ad revenues were 10 per cent higher for the first six months of 1959 than a year ago. Ad volume in June was 4 per cent above that of June, 1958, but 4 per cent below the previous month figure, the trade publication said.

Total national advertising revenues were up 6 per cent for the first half, and revenues for June were 7 per cent above the same month a year ago, Printers' Ink said.

Weather Report

Jackson Purchase, Hopkinsville-Owensboro area, Bowling Green-Greensburg area, Louisville - Elizabethtown area, and the Blue Grass - Considerable cloudiness this morning, becoming partly cloudy, but and humid this afternoon through Saturday, with a few showers early this morning followed by scattered thunder showers again Saturday afternoon and evening. High today 92, low tonight 70 to 75; high Saturday in middle 90s.

Temperatures at 5 a.m. c.d.: Louisville 76, Bowling Green 74, Covington 75, Paducah 74, London 72, Lexington 72 and Hopkinsville 74.

Evansville, Ind., 73.
Huntington, W. Va., 73.

Tobacco Advisory
Thus far we have not had a good day for curing tobacco this season. Relative humidities this weekend will average about 70 to 75 per cent each day, and with the high temperatures expected this will give only fair curing conditions at best.

If the intense heat has caused wilted leaves around the bottom of your tobacco plants and you are forced to cut the tobacco too ripe, make sure you give the tobacco plenty of good ventilation and don't crowd the plants in the barn.

By opening the barn during the daytime this will help prevent tobacco burn which might otherwise occur with the high heat and humidity we are having.

There is about a 30 to 40 per cent chance that tobacco cut one day this weekend will get wet before you can house it the next day.

Outdoor Activity To Pick Up In State

FRANKFORT (UPI) — Outdoor activity was due to pick up in Kentucky this week with the fishing outlook better than it has been recently, and the squirrel season getting underway Saturday.

Black bass fishing was reported improved at several major lakes with blacks being taken by trolling and casting surface lures in the early morning hours at Kentucky Lake, by trolling fly casting at Lake Cumberland, and by trolling at Dale Hollow.

Kentucky Lake also reported good fishing for catfish, crappie and stripers below the dam.

Cumberland had some good crappie fishing to go with the black bass, while Dale Hollow reported fair catches of bluegill and white bass at night.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources said that those areas of the state which usually have good squirrel hunting reported this year's crop was as good as usual, if not better.

High populations were reported in far western Kentucky, the south central area and the eastern mountains. Fox squirrels are on the decline in the Blue Grass, but the population of grays there is good.

Limits for the 90-day squirrel season are unchanged: bag of six or possession of 12 after two or more days hunting.

The dove season opens at noon Tuesday and runs through Nov. 4 with hunting permitted only from dawn, local time, to sunset. Bag limit is 10, possession limit is 20 after two or more days of hunting.

Joseph J. Shadden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Shadden Sr., was being lowered into the cave by two companions when the rope snapped apart on the edge of a sharp rock and he plunged about 300 feet to the rocky floor of the cave.

Comprising the committee will be Mrs. Murray Blue of Providence; Mrs. Paul Westpheling of Fulton; and Mrs. Lisle Baker Jr. of Louisville, who headed the successful statewide women's activities for the Combs - Wyatt ticket.

BULLETIN Program Approved

Congressman Frank A. Stubblefield notified the Murray Chamber of Commerce and L. D. Miller, who is Chairman of the East Fork Clarks River Watershed Conservancy District, that the work plan for the watershed was approved by the House Agriculture Committee today despite the Bureau of the Budget insisting that final decision be withheld pending some additional action on the matter.

The East Fork project is a flood-prevention program comprising 201,441 acres. The plan calls for 254,400 lineal feet of channel improvement which would be from the mouth of Clarks River in McCracken County to the bridge on Highway No. 121 east of Murray, Kentucky. The Corps of Engineers will be in charge of this channel improvement.

Fifteen flood water retarding structures on various tributaries leading into Clarks River will be constructed. Land treatment measures will cost $2,456,471 and the 15 flood water retarding structures will cost $1,444,469.

This is the first of the watershed projects involving the First District to come before the Committee since Frank A. Stubblefield has been a member of Congress. Mr. Stubblefield stated that it was a real source of satisfaction and pleasure to see this action taken, concerning his home territory.

Grain Storage Company Here Will Provide Huge Storage Facilities

Calloway County farmers, who now do not have any large grain storage facilities, stand to gain several thousand dollars annually on completion of the Farmers' Grain and Storage Company, Inc. which is now rising rapidly just east of NC & St. L Railroad depot.

The firm will be located in the site formerly held by Farmer's tobacco warehouse.

The principal business of the Farmers' Grain and Storage Company will be to store grain for farmers who wish to take advantage of the government support price, but who now cannot because of the lack of storage facilities.

Nearest storage facilities are at Pembroke, Kentucky and Cairo, Illinois, both about sixty five miles from Murray.

Farmers' Grain and Storage Company, Inc. is owned by Herman Kelly Ellis, who is president of the corporation, Kenton Miller of Lynn Grove Feed and Seed Company, and L. W. Paschall of Paschall Truck Lines.

The firm used as much of the old burned out building as possible and by yesterday all four walls were up with a large part of the roof covered. The interior of the building will be plastered with the entire construction being waterproofed.

The concrete floor is specially treated to prevent moisture from

Rev. Peery Is Speaker At Rotary Club

Rev. Gilbert Peery, campus pastor of the First Christian Church of Murray was the speaker yesterday at the Rotary Club.

Rev. Peery told the club that so many people are "slaves to routine" today and burdened with the tensions of life that they lose sight of the things by which they should live.

Some people live by luck, others by their wits, and others by the successes of the moment, he continued. They find it difficult to know what to do when this luck or success falls apart.

If we live with prayer, then crises are not as bad as they appear, he said. He told the club how Hezekiah found that man cannot live apart from God if he would have a successful life. He said Hezekiah also learned that a person cannot live without the forgiveness of his fellow man and of God. Rev. Peery was introduced by Howard Dodson.

Visiting Rotarian was Charles Farmers of Troy, Alabama. Bill Pogue had his father Leslie Pogue as his guest. Alvis Oakley was a guest of Hugh Oakley. Wayne Doran was a guest of Howard Dodson.

The club welcomed back E. B. Houston who has been absent during the summer.

Shirley Florist Completes Air Conditioned Greenhouse

Shirley Florist has erected one of the most modern greenhouses in the state of Kentucky, according to Edgar Shirley, owner of the firm.

The old greenhouse was taken down and the new one, made of steel pipe and glass has been erected. The new greenhouse is heated with a modern gas boiler and is air conditioned.

Concrete walks extend between the benches which are also new. The new benches containing the plants are table top height, requiring no bending.

Capacity of the new greenhouse is double the capacity of the old one Shirley said.

The unique air conditioning system involves four 48 inch fans at the front of the building which pull air through the back wall of the greenhouse. This wall is composed of a fibrous pad through which water runs. As the water runs down, it comes into a concrete pit and pumped back through the pad. Louvre windows on the sides may be closed in the winter time.

A large work area is located in the front of the building where plants are reset from the seeding trays.

A new feature is a parking lot 135 feet long on the south side of the building where customers may park. The nursery stock will be displayed on the outside of the south end of the greenhouse where it may easily be seen by customers.

Shirley said that a self service program will be instituted in the spring with bedding plants completely labeled with name, and price.

Near Million On Hand To Greet Ike; Scotland Cheers

By PETER LYNCH

BALMORAL, Scotland (UPI) — President Eisenhower, delayed slightly by another tumultuous greeting, arrived here today and received a royal welcome of skirling bagpipes and an unscheduled personal greeting by Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

The President flew from London to Aberdeen and then drove the 55 miles to Balmoral, Scotland, past tens of thousands of Scots who had streamed in from the highlands to bid him welcome. He had been given a similar huge send-off in London.

Queen Elizabeth broke her announced decision to make no further public appearances until after the birth of her third child in January or February and came to the gates of Balmoral Castle to give a personal welcome to the President.

It was the first time a U.S. president ever had visited the British royal family's Highland residence. It was the first time a president had ever visited Scotland. And his flight from London aboard an RAF jet Comet was the first flight by a U.S. president abroad since the Aug. 7 announcement of her retirement.

The Queen today wore a small tight-fitting white hat and a pale blue suit, warm enough to guard her against the chills of Scottish weather. Margaret wore a grey suit.

The Queen, smiling and animated, stood chatting for a few moments with the commander of the guard of honor of Royal Highland Fusiliers until a roar of cheering from the crowds signaled the President's arrival.

The normally dour and unemotional Scots clearly were out to vie with the Londoners who overtook the President Thursday night with a roaring, flag-waving, cordons - breaking demonstration such as seldom has been seen in the British capital's history.

Greeted By Prince

A crowd estimated at one million persons had yelled themselves hoarse when the President stepped to the castle gate to welcome Eisenhower.

Her greeting was in the full view of television cameras which enabled millions of Britons to see her again.

Eisenhower, flashing his famous smile, shook the Queen's hand warmly with the remark, "how nice of you to let me come."

Third Triumph

Eisenhower's visit to Scotland was his third triumph in as many days. On Wednesday he was greeted by a quarter of a million West Germans when he arrived in Bonn on his mission of peace. An estimated one million greeted him in London.

Today thousands of Scots poured into Aberdeen to wave and shout as he landed from a gleaming Royal Air Force jet Comet and began the drive to Balmoral.

Ike...

almost six hours of cold war talks at about 4:30 p.m. (11:30 a.m. e.d.t.), then drove to a nearby helicopter pad for a hop to Wann airport for the President's departure by jet-airliner to London.

During their meeting, the joint communique said, "The President and the chancellor discussed disarmament, the problems of Berlin and German reunification, European integration, and the continued cooperation of the two countries in the Atlantic alliance."

The communique said they "reaffirmed their resolve to continue their efforts to achieve a just and peaceful solution of the problem of the tragic division of Germany, a solution consistent with the desire of the German people and assuring peace and security in Europe."

Renews Pledge

In this context, it said, "President Eisenhower referred once again to the pledge given by the United States and its allies to protect the freedom and welfare of the people of Berlin."

Eisenhower smiled at chancellery guards as he strode from the building alongside Adenauer, and said, in English: "Thank you very much."

A huge crowd was milling in the streets leading from the chancellery to the helicopter pad on a football field.

The crowd waved hundreds of paper flags, threw flowers and chanted, "Ike, Ike, Ike" in a swelling roar.

Expresses Optimism

At his press conference, Eisenhower expressed optimism about the results of his exchange of visits with Khrushchev.

The President added that both he and Adenauer hoped "something good" would come out of his meetings with the Soviet leader.

The President also said it would be a "grave mistake" to hold a summit conference unless the West were confident some real progress could be achieved. He said he would not attend a summit meeting that would amount to a propaganda mill.

Eisenhower said the promise, or assurance of progress, for a summit meeting could come from another meeting of the foreign ministers.

Newspaper Revenue Tops All Media

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newspaper advertising revenues posted the highest gain of any advertising media in the first half of this year, Printers' Ink magazine said Thursday.

It said newspaper ad revenues were 10 per cent higher for the first six months of 1959 than a year ago. Ad volume in June was 4 per cent above that of June, 1958, but 4 per cent below the previous month figure, the trade publication said.

Total national advertising revenues were up 6 per cent for the first half, and revenues for June were 7 per cent above the same month a year ago, Printers' Ink said.

Weather Report

Jackson Purchase, Hopkinsville, Owensboro area, Bowling Green, Greensburg area, Louisville - Elizabethtown area, and the Blue Grass - Considerable cloudiness this morning, becoming partly cloudy, hot and humid this afternoon through Saturday, with a few showers early this morning followed by scattered thunder showers again Saturday afternoon and evening. High today 82, low tonight 70 to 75; high Saturday in middle 90s.

Temperatures at 5 a.m. ed.— Louisville 76, Bowling Green 74, Covington 75, Paducah 74, London 72, Lexington 72 and Hopkinsville 74.

Evansville, Ind., 73. Huntington, W. Va., 73.

Tobacco Advisory
Thus far we have not had a good day for curing tobacco this season. Relative humidities this weekend will average about 70 to 75 per cent each day, and with the high temperatures expected this will give only fair curing conditions at best.

If the intense heat has caused wilted leaves around the bottom of your tobacco plants and you are forced to cut the tobacco to make sure you give the tobacco plenty of good ventilation and don't crowd the plants in the barn.

By opening the barn during the daytime this will help prevent house burn which might otherwise occur with the high heat and humidity we are having.

There is about a 30 to 40 per cent chance that tobacco cut one day this weekend will get wet before you can house it the next day.

Outdoor Activity To Pick Up In State

FRANKFORT (UPI) — Outdoor activity was due to pick up in Kentucky this week with the fishing outlook better than it has been recently, and the squirrel season getting underway Saturday.

Black bass fishing was reported improved at several major lakes with blacks being taken by trolling and casting surface lures in the early morning hours at Kentucky Lake, by trolling fly casting at Lake Cumberland, and by trolling at Dale Hollow.

Kentucky Lake also reported good fishing for catfish, crappie and striped below the dam. Cumberland had some good crappie fishing to go with the black bass, while Dale Hollow reported fair catches of bluegill, and white bass at night.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources said that those areas of the state which usually have good squirrel hunting reported this year's crop was as good as usual, if not better.

High populations were reported in far western Kentucky, the south central area and the eastern mountains. Fox squirrels are on the decline in the Blue Grass, but the population of grays there is good.

Limits for the 90-day squirrel season are unchanged—a bag of 10 per season, with a limit of 12 after two or more days of hunting.

The dove season opens at noon Tuesday and runs through Nov. 4, with hunting permitted only from moon, local time, to sunset. Bag limit is 10, possession limit is 20 after two or more days of hunting.

—Confinement of bond proceeds with other money in the highway fund is a violation of statutes and the state Constitution.

—That bond proceeds shall be kept in a separate account when transferred to the highway department as a guarantee that bond money will not be used for any purpose except matching federal funds.

Oates said his department would take all steps necessary to meet the legal action, but saw no possibility that it could be finally settled for months.

—It is inconceivable that Mr. Carter would dare to hold up the highway program for three or four months while this controversy is being debated," Oates said.

The highway commissioner said if his department did not receive the funds, it would face a

BULLETIN Program Approved

Congressman Frank A. Stubblefield notified the Murray Chamber of Commerce and L. D. Miller, who is Chairman of the East Fork Clarks River Watershed Conservancy District, that the work plan for the watershed was approved by the House Agriculture Committee today despite the Bureau of the Budget insisting that final decision be withheld pending some additional action on the matter.

The East Fork project is a flood-prevention program comprising 201,441 acres. The plan calls for 254,400 linear feet of channel improvement which would be from the mouth of Clarks River in McCracken County to the bridge on Highway No. 121 east of Murray, Kentucky. The Corps of Engineers will be in charge of this channel improvement.

Fifteen flood water retarding structures on various tributaries leading into Clarks River will be constructed. Land treatment measures will cost $2,456,471 and the 15 flood water retarding structures will cost $1,444,469.

This is the first of the watershed projects involving the First District to come before the Committee since Frank A. Stubblefield has been a member of Congress. Mr. Stubblefield stated that it was a real source of satisfaction and pleasure to see this action taken, concerning his home territory.

Thompson and Eric Stewart, 15, both of Chattanooga, were lowered in a rope sling when the accident occurred.

Rev. Peery Is Speaker At Rotary Club

Rev. Gilbert Peery, campus pastor of the First Christian Church of Murray was the speaker yesterday at the Rotary Club.

Rev. Peery told the club that so many people are "slaves to routine" today and burdened with the tensions of life that they lose sight of the things by which they should live.

Some people live by luck, others by their wits, and others by the successes of the moment, he continued. They find it difficult to know what to do when this luck or success falls apart.

If we live with prayer then crises are not as bad as they appear he said. He told the club how Hezekiah found that man cannot live apart from God if he would have a successful life. He said Hezekiah also learned that a person cannot live without the forgiveness of his fellow man and of God. Rev. Peery was introduced by Howard Dodson.

Visiting Rotarian was Charles Farmers of Troy, Alabama. Bill Pogue had his father Leslie Pogue as his guest. Alvis Oakley was a guest of Hugh Oakley.

Wayne Doran was a guest of Howard Dodson. The club welcomed back E. H. Howforn who has been absent during the summer.

Near Million On Hand To Greet Ike; Scotland Cheers

By PETER LYNCH

BALMORAL, Scotland (UPI) — President Eisenhower, delayed slightly by another tumultuous greeting arrived here today and received a royal welcome of skirling bagpipes and an unscheduled personal greeting by Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

The President flew from London to Aberdeen and then drove the 55 miles to Balmoral, Scotland past tens of thousands of Scots who had streamed in from the highlands to bid him welcome. He had been given a similar huge sendoff in London.

Queen Elizabeth broge her announced decision to make no further public appearances until after the birth of her third child in January or February and came to the gates of Balmoral Castle to give a personal welcome to the President.

It was the first time a U.S. president ever had visited the British royal family's Highland residence. It was the first time a president had ever visited Scotland. And his flight from London aboard an RAF jet Comet was the first light by a U.S. president aboard a foreign plane.

Crowds Delay Trip
Huge cheering crowds broke through police cordons again today and surged into the roadway, holding up the President. He arrived nearly 10 minutes behind schedule in the drive from Aberdeen's Dyce Airport where he was met by the Queen's husband, Prince Philip.

The Queen's appearance with her younger sister was not merely a gesture of courtesy to her distinguished guest. She swept aside her "no public appearance" statement and the red tape protocol connected with it and drove to the castle gate to welcome Eisenhower.

Her greeting was in the full view of television cameras which enabled millions of Britons to see her again.

Eisenhower, flashing his famous smile, shook the Queen's hand warmly with the remark, "how nice of you to let me come."

Third Triumph
Eisenhower's visit to Scotland was his third triumph in as many days. On Wednesday he was greeted by a quarter of a million West Germans when he arrived in Bonn on his mission of peace. An estimated one million greeted him in London.

Today thousands of Scots poured into Aberdeen to wave and shout as he landed from a gleaming Royal Air Force jet Comet and began the drive to Balmoral. For millions of television viewers it was the first time they had seen the Queen since the Aug. 7 announcement of her retirement. The Queen today wore a small tight-fitting white hat and a pale blue suit, warm enough to guard her against the chill Scottish weather. Margaret wore a grey suit.

The Queen, smiling and animated, stood chatting for a few moments with the commander of the house of Royal Highland Fusiliers until a roar of cheering from the crowds signaled the President's arrival.

The normally dour and unemotional Scots clearly were out to vie with the Londoners who overwhelmed the President Thursday night with a roaring, flag-waving, cordon - breaking demonstration such as seldom had been seen in the British capital's history.

Shirley Florist Completes Air Conditioned Greenhouse

Shirley Florist has erected one of the most modern greenhouses in the state of Kentucky, according to Edgar Shirley, owner of the firm.

The old greenhouse was taken down and the new one, made of steel pipe and glass has been erected. The new greenhouse is heated with a modern gas boiler and is air conditioned.

Concrete walks extend between the benches which are also new. The new benches containing the plants, are table top height, requiring no bending.

Capacity of the new greenhouse is double the capacity of the old one Shirley said.

The unique air conditioning system involves four 48 inch fans at the front of the building which pull air through the back wall of the greenhouse. This wall is composed of a fibrous pad through which water runs. As the water runs down it comes into a concrete pit and pumped back through the pad. Louvre windows on the outside may be closed in the winter time.

Part of the greenhouse has ceramic coated glass and the heavy foliage plants are located in this area. Just the correct amount of diffused light comes through the glass for these plants.

A large work area is located in the front of the building where plants are reset from the seedling trays.

A new feature is a parking lot 135 feet long on the south side of the building where customers may park. The nursery stock will be displayed on the outside of the south end of the greenhouse where it may easily be seen by customers.

Shirley said that a self service program will be instituted in the spring with bedding plants completely labeled with name, and price.

Twenty four 100 watt bulbs will light the interior of the greenhouse at night.

Another session of the school will be held on October 12th - 16th, 1959 at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville. The school has been designed for those people who are entering the insurance business and need to pass the State Insurance Examination and for those who wish to gain additional knowledge. The School has been endorsed by the Kentucky Insurance Department since its beginning.

Grain Storage Company Here Will Provide Huge Storage Facilities

Calloway County farmers, who now do not have any large grain storage facilities, stand to gain several thousand dollars annually on completion of the Farmers' Grain and Storage Company, Inc. which is now rising rapidly just east of NC & St. L. Railroad depot.

The firm will be located in the site formerly held by Farmer's tobacco warehouse.

The principal business of the Farmers' Grain and Storage Company will be to store grain for farmers who wish to take advantage of the government support price, but who now cannot because of the lack of storage facilities.

Nearest storage facilities are at Pembroke, Kentucky and Cairo, Illinois, both about sixty five miles from Murray.

Farmers' Grain and Storage Company, Inc. is owned by Herman Kelly Ellis, who is president of the corporation, Kenton Miller of Lynne Grove who now runs the Lynn Grove Feed and Seed Company, and L. W. Paschall of Paschall Truck Lines.

The trio used as much of the old burned out building as possible and by yesterday all four walls were up with a large part of the roof covered. The interior of the building will be plastered with the entire construction being waterproofed.

The concrete floor is specially treated to prevent moisture from rising and the exterior will also be waterproof.

Yesterday evening Ellis told a Ledger and Times reporter that the entire project will represent an outlay of eighty to one hundred thousand dollars.

Total capacity from the beginning will be 250,000 bushels of grain. The building itself will contain about 200,000 bushels and five 10,000 bushel capacity storage bins at the rear of the building will furnish the rest of the capacity.

If the need arises, he said, for more storage space, the firm has leased, and under option to buy, a lot just north of the building 150 x 275 feet on which more 10,000 bushel storage bins can be constructed at the rate of one day.

The building itself is 110 feet wide and 150 feet deep. He emphasized that the firm will be able to handle the 1959 crop. All haste is being made he said, to insure that the company will be able to handle grain this fall so that farmers can take advantage of the support price on grains if they so choose.

Ellis said that all corn in this area is eligible for loan. As an added feature of the company a huge set of scales fifty feet long with a capacity of forty tons will be installed. This will enable the weighing of the largest truck or a train of wagons pulled by tractor, he said, without unhooking any part of the load.

The most modern type of aeration will be installed in the grain storage firm. This equipment stores the grain to keep it in top condition.

Ellis said that a large commercial type Campbell Dryer is to be installed and it too will be of the latest design. This dryer will properly dry the grain so that it will not spoil or become mildewed.

When the grain is stored in the bins the company becomes completely responsible for its weight, quality, condition, etc. All possible efforts are planned to keep the grain in proper condition. Fumigants for insect control can be forced through the grain with the aeration system.

The building is reinforced on the outside with steel bands to help resist the pressure of the grain on the inside.

To be installed are shelters, elevators, dryers, and cleaners so that the company will be able to handle every phase of the grain business.

Ellis also emphasized that the company will not only store grain under the commodity support program but that it will also purchase grain and sell it to custom drying for customers.

Alvis E. Jones will be the manager.

TRUMAN'S NASTY STATEMENT

WHEN it comes to speaking out of turn, putting one's foot in one's mouth, so to speak, or downright nastiness, former President Harry S. Truman continues to hold first place among all public figures in this country.

It is not always what he says that offends. It is the way he says it, and his diabolical sense of timing. If he wants to criticize he always does it at the time when it is designed to hurt the most, but even he should have more respect for the office he held for almost two terms than to embarrass President Eisenhower now.

He has sold an article to one of the national feature syndicates, this one a criticism of President Eisenhower on his decision to visit Moscow in an effort to establish a better understanding with the Soviet Union, and thereby save millions of lives which could be lost in a nuclear fission war.

His views of course will be shared by millions of Americans, as they always are. He thinks it is a mistake for Ike to go to Moscow, and we almost agree with him, but the release of his criticism on the eve of Mr. Eisenhower's departure for Bonn, Paris and London is a downright insult.

He says it is "beneath the dignity of the President" to go to Moscow. If so we wonder what Nikita Khrushchev will think of a former president attacking the present occupant of the White House in his bold effort to mend delicate relations with a foreign power that could mean war unless they are mended?

Since the development of atomic energy our thinking on vital matters has undergone drastic changes, including our views in regards to treason, subversion and giving aid to the enemy. This change was bound to come as a development of a different kind of war Mr. Truman helped start at Potsdam some fourteen years ago.

What Mr. Eisenhower, who was the Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces which brought Nazi Germany to her knees, is going to try to do at Moscow is to correct a mistake Mr. Truman made at Potsdam when he agreed to the partition of Germany in such a way that the City of Berlin, the Number One military prize Eisenhower fought for, is a hundred miles behind the Iron Curtain.

In his article released for publication August 25th, Mr. Truman expresses bitterness towards the Soviet Union for breaking her agreements, not only made at Potsdam but before that at Yalta, and he says Ike cannot change matters by visiting Moscow, a point on which millions will agree.

But since Mr. Truman has seen fit to make his criticism at this time when it will give Khrushchev a club he could get in no other way to divide us, and cause disunion among our allies, we make bold to remind the little man from Missouri that Mr. K., and most other Russian leaders, might have a mite more respect for their former Supreme Commander than they have for the "softie" who negotiated with "good old Joe" Stalin at Potsdam and thereby set the stage for the Cold War.

Also we think the former President should be reminded of Ike's promise in the election of 1952 to make a personal trip to Korea in an effort to end the Truman "police action" which cost us 139,000 casualties.

If he gets a fraction of the results in Moscow in easing tension caused by the Cold War that he got in Korea, in ending that useless conflict, which Truman wouldn't allow General MacArthur to win, it will be one of the greatest achievements in our history. And even Truman has never seen fit to criticize him for his trip to Korea, nor even implied that it "was beneath the dignity of the President of the United States."

Kick An Underdog And You'll Wind Up With A Piece Of Your League Lead Chewed Out, The Faltering Giants Find Out

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press International
Kick an underdog and you'll wind up with a piece of your league lead chewed out.

That's an age-old baseball axiom and if the faltering first-place Giants didn't know it before they sure know it now.

All season long, the Giants have been beating the last-place Phillies with a minimum of difficulty. But then they went and stirred up a baseball ruckus with the tail-enders Thursday that did it.

The suddenly aroused Phillies swept a doubleheader, 7-2 and 2-1, and the weary Giants limped out of Philadelphia with the National League lead sliced to two games.

Most of the fireworks took place during the sixth inning of the opener with the score tied at 1-1. Joe Koppe put the Phils in front when he led off the frame with a home run off Make McCormick. After Gene Freese also homered, McCormick hit Harry Anderson on the head with a pitch.

Explode In Sixth

Anderson fell to the ground, stretched out. It took him some time to get up, but when he did he shouted angrily at McCormick and had to be restrained from getting at the Giant pitcher. McCormick insisted he didn't throw at Anderson intentionally.

The Phils didn't believe him, though. They scored five runs in the sixth to earn Jim Owens his 10th victory.

All the scoring in the nightcap came during the first inning. Willie Mays hit his 22nd home-run in the top of the frame but the Phils came back with two off Al Worthington in the bottom of the frame on a walk, a single, a sacrifice fly, an infield out and another single by Wally Post.

St. Louis beat Milwaukee, 5-4, and Cincinnati took Chicago, 5-0, in the other N.L. games. Los Angeles and Pittsburgh were idle.

Sox stretched their lead to 1½ games with a 5-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the only American League game scheduled.

Happy Birthday

Joe Cunningham celebrated his 28th birthday by collecting a triple, double and two singles in the Cards' win over the Braves. Cunningham's performance lifted his batting average to .349, only nine points back of Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, who leads the league.

Rookie southpaw Jim O'Toole of the Reds limited the Cubs to five hits in pitching his first major league shutout and winning his fourth victory of the year.

O'Toole fanned 10 and didn't allow a hit until the fifth.

Two youngsters, 23-year old Barry Latman and 25-year old John Romano, led the White Sox to their victory over the Red Sox. Latman blanked Boston for eight innings before Ted Williams teed off for his 10th homer in the ninth.

Romano singled home Chicago's first two runs off loser Frank Baumann in the third and then singled home another run in the ninth.

hoarse in an outburst of enthusiasm not seen since the coronation of the Queen. There had been similar ovations in Bonn, Germany, where Eisenhower met with Konrad Adenauer.

As the President stepped down from the silvery Comet into a typically misty northern Scottish morning, the Queen's husband, Prince Philip, stepped forward to greet Eisenhower with a smile and a warm handshake. He is the first president to visit Balmoral.

The Comet, with a blue lightning streak decorating its side, broke out RAF and U.S. flags as it landed and then taxied close to the shore.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Walter H. Maschke before an altar beautifully decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, mums, spiral candelabra interspersed with palms, and two white cathedral candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Alfred-Angelo designed wedding gown of white peau de soie and chantilly lace.

Miss Carolyn Wallis and Mr. Carl Stout Jr. Married Wednesday At Methodist Church

MRS. CARL MORRIS STOUT JR.

The First Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Carolyn Wallis, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gingles Wallis, and Mr. Carl Morris Stout Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Stout, on August 26, at one o'clock in the afternoon.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Walter H. Maschke before an altar beautifully decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, mums, spiral candelabra interspersed with palms, and two white cathedral candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Alfred-Angelo designed wedding gown of white peau de soie and chantilly lace.

The empire bodice with long sleeves was accented with a tiny peau de soie pearl beaded rose. A glow of seed pearls complimented the scalloped neck line gently plunging in the back. The skirt was captured high in front with two identical peau de soie roses, revealing a skirt of chantilly lace. A hand clipped Chantilly lace border, scattered with seed pearls, encircled the chapel train.

The bride's fingertip length veil fell from a pearl touched crown and tapered longer in the back to blend with the train. Her bouquet was a white, purple-throated orchid, embedded in a nest of lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Lynn Hahn, maid of honor, wore a moss green, silk organza dress, with a bouffant skirt and full sleeves falling to the elbow. A large rose of matching velvet accented the back of the dress. Her winged hat of gathered silk organza was caught at the crown with tiny velvet bows.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert G. Neale, Manchester, Tenn.; Miss Ann Howard Boone, Elizabethtown, and Miss Sandra Costello, a junior bridesmaid.

They wore identical dresses of mint green silk organza and carried cascade shaped bouquets of large yellow fusi mums.

Mr. Richard H. Stout, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Messrs. Tommy Rushing, Ed Carroll, Jimmy Futrell and Dan Pugh. The candles were lighted by Mr. Rushing and Mr. Carroll.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wallis chose a blue lace sheath dress over matching satin, fashioned in an empire effect with a flowing panel in the back. Her elbow length gloves, sequin hat and shoes were in matching blue.

Mrs. Stout wore a rose beige lace dress over tissue taffeta with a plunging neck line and elbow length sleeves. She chose as her accessories a small feather hat and short white kid gloves. Both mothers wore a purple orchid corsage.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Gatlin and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. T. Wallis, both wore navy blue dresses with matching accessories and white carnation corsages.

Mrs. R. W. Farrell, organist, presented a prelude of nuptial music. Her selections were "Choir de lune", "Oh Promise Me", "I Love You Truly", and "The Lord's Prayer" was softly played throughout the ceremony.

Mrs. Howard Olla, soloist, sang "I Love Thee", "Because", and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents entertained with a reception at the Woman's Club House. The four tiered wedding cake and punch was served from the bride's table which was overlaid with an imported linen and lace cloth.

Serving at the bride's table during the reception were Mesdames Dan Pugh, Keith Hill and Dan McNutt; Misses Nancy Outland, Betty Thurmond, Diane Elkins and Jackita White.

Miss Linda Sue Boone of Elizabethtown presided at the register. Appropriate music was played during the reception by Mrs. Roy Farmer.

For traveling the bride wore a two piece dress by Bobbie Brooks of brown and black paisley print with accents of tangerine. She wore tangerine jewelry, a black velvet hat, black suede shoes, purple and short white kid gloves. Her white orchid from the bride's bouquet was pinned at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Stout left immediately for a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains. They will reside at 103 1/2 North 16th Street in Murray. Both plan to continue their studies at Murray State College.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boone and Daniel Boone, Elizabethtown; Miss Lula C. Beale, St. Charles, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gray, Keith and Melinda Bray, Paducah; Mrs. Houston Hawley, Mrs. H. B. Giles of Mayfield; and Mrs. H. C. Jones, Union City, Tenn.

Rehearsal Dinner
On Tuesday evening, August 25 at eight o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stout Sr. entertained the bride, groom, and wedding party with a dinner at the Kentucky Colonel restaurant.

Miss Wallis and Mr. Stout exchanged gifts and presented their attendants gifts.

financial crisis Sept. 1, and again at the end of the first week in September, when payments to contractors fall due.

Gov. A. B. Chandler has said that when contractors begin to show up in Frankfort demanding payment, he will send them to knock on Carter's door and let him explain why they have received no checks.

Usually in such suits defendants have 20 days in which to file answers. Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery next sits in Frankfort Sept. 7.

Ferguson, long a political foe of the Chandler administration, has charged that by mingling the bond funds with other road money, the present administration could spend highway money so fast before it goes out of office in December that the incoming administration would be hard up financially.

Dates has denied that this is true, saying that Ferguson's figures are misleading. He says that, for example, they do not take into account about nine million dollars now tied up in right-of-way disputes.

ager for the concern. A modern office will be constructed in the building and a waiting room for customers.

Railroad facilities have been leased so that by using the Vacu-ator, grain can be loaded directly from the building into a freight car. This machine pulls the grain by vacuum and propels it to the desired location.

All three of the incorporators of the firm are well known in Calloway County farming and business circles. Ellis is now in the grain business on Chestnut street and has handled grain and fertilizers for most of his life. Kenton Miller of Lynn Grove has been in the seed business for many years and Mr. Paschall is Valley Counties Cooperative.

The announcement of the construction of the grain storage facility met with the approval of farm leaders.

Lowell Palmer, office manager of the Calloway County ASC Office said "as County ASC Office Manager, with the responsibility of administering the Commodity Loan Program, I have been aware of the need for commercial grain storage facilities in Calloway County for several years. With storage of this type available, eligible producers can take full advantage of the price supports available. Warehouse storage loans for any amount of eligible grain is simple and easy."

B. W. Edmonds, manager of the Valley Counties Cooperative said "After working with farmers and farm programs for the past fifteen years I was glad to learn that we would have grain storage available in Calloway County this fall. This is a service that has been badly needed for the past several years, and will mean thousands of dollars to our farmers."

S. V. Poy, County Agent when contacted said, "I have been County Agricultural Extension Agent in Calloway County for twelve years. All during this time, I have recognized the need of grain storage and the value it would be to farmers of Calloway County."

"Every year thousands of dollars are lost by farmers having to sell on the lowest market at harvest time because of the lack of home storage or commercial storage. Counties in Kentucky and Tennessee having commercial storage available for the farmers grain means much to the farmers in those counties by increasing their income on the surplus grain they produce."

"All corn is eligible for a government support price of $1.17 per bushel. You may compare this price against a probable $0.10 to 90 cents per bushel at harvest time. The difference between support price and harvest price would mean from ten to twenty cents per bushel more. As County Agent I endorse a commercial storage program."

into the new operation, Shirley said, "but there will be none in Kentucky to compare with it."

With the air conditioning, plants will not only be fresher, but customers will also be able to "browse" among the flower filled benches in comfort.

Flatt And Scruggs To Appear Tonight At Murray Drive-In

Old fashioned "Picking and singing" at its finest is the product featured by Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs with their Foggy Mountain Boys. They are said to make more personal appearances than any other group on WSM's Grand Ole Opry, and probably more than any other unit in Country Music.

Their band features old-time instruments, with no electrically equipped pieces in the seven-man combination.

Flatt, a featured vocalist, is spokesman for the group and also is talented with the rhythm guitar. He began to sing as a child and soloed in a church choir when only seven years old. He is a native of Sparta, Tenn.

Scruggs, business manager for the group, is recognized as one of the nation's finest banjo players - using a distinctive style that has been widely copied. He began to play this instrument as a small boy, in his native Flint Hill, N. C.

The Flatt and Scruggs show is almost constantly on tour, using a spacious diesel bus equipped with bunks for sleeping. The group offers a general family show, applauded by grownups and children alike. It features fast paced musical and comedy numbers, with the music emphasizing old-time numbers brought up to date.

It is the only Grand Ole Opry sponsored continuously by one sponsor on radio, television and personal appearances. This sponsor is Martha White Mills of Nashville, with plants in several other Southeastern cities.

In addition to sponsored appearances in the Southeast, they also occasionally go into other sections - including New York dates. The Flatt and Scruggs Columbia recording stars will make their appearance tonight at the Murray Drive-In Theatre.

PERSONALS
Mrs. Donnie Darnell and children, Ronnie and Donna Faye of Nashville, Tenn., are visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harding Galloway on South 16th Street while her husband is on business down south.

Growing with America ....like America, nourished by Freedom ....

The Oil Industry this year observes its 100th Anniversary. Today America moves on oil toward an even better way of life. We salute the Oil Industry, in the hope and belief that for Oil Progress and for America, the best is yet to come.

The distributors of Murray and Calloway County, Ky., salute Oil Progress and the customers that have made this progress possible.
